Reading The Giver again was a fascinating experience. I loved this book more than when I had read it in the fifth grade, partly because I had my fifth-grade understanding of the book to compare to my new understanding. Because of this I think that The Giver should be read at different intervals of a student's schooling.

“The Giver offers experiences that enhance readers levels of inquiry and reflection.” (Friedman & Cataldo pp102-112) At First glance the novel's setting seems to be a utopia, where all possible steps are taken to eliminate pain and anguish. Often the difference between a Utopia and a Dystopia is the author's point of view.
